GETTING THERE:

Tell the taxi driver to drop you at the China Square Central taxi stand along Cross Street, in front of the Marsh & McLennan Centre which is a blue, high-rise office building. South Bridge Court is a low-rise (3-storey) building at the back of it. You can also stop at other nearby locations – see further directions below.

A – Marsh & McLennan Centre, Cross Street

- Walk through the building towards the fountain in the centre
- On your left you will see a glass door with the sign - “South Bridge Court, 22 Cross Street” (Fig 3)
- Take escalator to level 2.

B – Great Eastern Centre, Pickering Street

- Walk past “Han’s the Tastytown” food outlet, and through the shophouse building ahead of it.
- Turn right and walk along the corridor towards the glass door entrance on your right (Fig 3).
- Take escalator to level 2.

C – Fook Hai Building/Hong Lim Complex, South Bridge Road

- Cross the road to South Bridge Court via the overhead pedestrian bridge (Fig 1).
- Walk towards the pillars (Fig 2)
- Just before the pillars, turn right and walk towards the glass door entrance on your right (Fig 3).
- Take escalator to level 2.

Bus services that stop at South Bridge Court (along South Bridge Road) are: 61, 80, 145, 166 and 197.

There is car parking at China Square Central, with entrances along South Bridge Road and Cross Street. Other nearby carparks are at Fook Hai Building, Hong Lim Complex and Great Eastern Centre.

The nearest MRT Station is Chinatown, Exit E.
